I have built a graph in Neo4j 2.2.0. I have validated it by using Cypher interface querying etc. Now I want to import it into Gephi 0.8.2. I am using neo4j plugin (not sure of its version. Its downloaded through the tool)

When I try importing my neo4j database it gives blank error popup, no information on it. I tried to import defaultdb which comes with neo4j, the exact same behavior. So I suppose its not to do with database but some configuration or version etc.

I also enabled debugging option in etc conf setting of Gephi.

-J-Dnetbeans.logger.console=true -J-ea

But this is not opening or printing anything. I also tries to find Gephi log file which I cannot. Could not find anything of google. Any idea what may be going on or how to debug/ see log file etc? Appreciate any help

You want to try the following in Gephi 1. Go to Tools -> Plugins -> Updates 2. Select all the plugins listed and click update

1) Did not find link for Gephi 1. 2) Dont understand how it'll solve the problem? Is this something you experienced and fixed before? – Kognizant Mar 31 at 5:50

Yes. I had similar issues and got it resolved. I tried few steps and got it resolved. Also open Gephi (not Gephi 1 - its a typo) and follow the steps. – Soudarsanan Mar 31 at 7:33 tried that. unfortunately did not help – Kognizant Mar 31 at 7:47

Gephi 0.8.2, neo4j 2.2.0-RC01. JDK 7u75.All plugins updated. Still not workng. – gruby karol Apr 2 at 10:17

I found a way to get around this obstacle. you can export your data from Neo4j to a CSV file, and then upload the file to Gephi.

hope it gets you what you need.

I did not find any way to export csv data from neo4j. And I feel there is no need of that for me as I already have CSV files. Just wanted to check if it can happen seamless without me having to import/export. –
